Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: reference to the claims should be removed from page 10, lines 1 and 2.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. Claim 3 recites the limitation "the flow passage of the sprue bush" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-4 and 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Japanese Publication 02-160525. The temperature control medium flows through passages 14A at the front end portion of the bush 8.

7. Claims 1-6 and 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Japanese Publication 2003-165146. Cylinder 27 (bush) surrounds the machining member (gate cut sleeve 29) and has a flow passage (28) in a front end portion. Fig. 1 shows the radial dimension of the flow passage of the sprue bush being greater than an inner diameter of a supply passage for supplying temperature control medium to the flow passage of the sprue bush. A support member (32) extends rearward from a position near the flow passage formed in the front end portion of the bush and the supply passage (28D) for supplying the temperature control medium to the flow passage of the bush is formed along the support member bearing 32 as shown in Fig. 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Publication 2003-165146. The providing a lubricant for the bearings 32 would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art of bearings and moving members. The discharge passage would clearly be the open space below the bearing.
